NARRATIVE

The chapter begins by citing the qualities of one who truly believes.

It then moves to a reflection on the creation of the human being from clay, recounting his development from a clot through to his death and resurrection.

After several verses on the blessings of Divinity, the chapter transitions to guidance through past Messengers with a focus on Prophet Nuh, Musa, Harun & Isa (pbut) and a mention of generations in between.

Further qualities of those who believe is followed by the arrogance of those who deny Divinity and their mental cages.

The sura concludes with a dua of asking for forgiveness and mercy.
